Bennett Packaging & Displays Receives Top National Honors for Innovative Package Design

Kansas City, MO (Nov. 11, 2009): Bennett Packaging & Displays, Lee's Summit, MO and Wichita, KS recently received three top honors at the 14th International Corrugated Packaging Design Competition in Las Vegas, according to Kathy Bennett, President. Bennett Packaging was awarded the prestigious Judge's Choice award and the First Place award in the Innovative Structural Design/Consumer Focus category for their Zyrtec Display which was designed by the Bennett creative team in Bentonville, AR and printed at the Lee's Summit location. The packaging design not only displays the product, it is a theft deterrent.

Bennett also received a 2nd Place award in the Innovative Structural Design/Consumer Focus Category for their “Tylenol Theft Prevention” display and a 3rd Place award in the Flexo Printing on Combined Brown Board category for their Schlafy Oktoberfest container in the AICC competition.

The Association of Independent Corrugated Converters (AICC), Alexandria, VA, sponsors the bi-annual International Corrugated Packaging Design Competition to recognize, showcase and reward independent corrugator and sheet plant manufacturers for outstanding corrugated packaging designs and displays. The competition includes 17 diverse categories, a People's Choice Award and the prestigious Judges' Choice Award. There were over 120 entries from 30 companies in this year.
